Acceptable Use of Inator Network Policy — Version 1.0

1. Purpose

This policy explains what employees may and may not do on the Inator Network, the company's internal network connecting every inator, laptop, and smart toaster in the building.

2. Scope

This policy applies to every device connected to the Inator Network, including personal phones on the guest network.

3. Permitted Use

3.1 Business Use. The network is for company business, including research, scheming, and watching instructional videos about lasers.

3.2 Personal Use. Limited personal use is allowed during breaks, provided it does not slow down any inator currently charging.

4. Prohibited Use

4.1 Streaming. Streaming video on the inator subnet is prohibited, because it once caused the Shrink-inator to buffer mid-shrink.

4.2 Remote Control. Connecting an inator to the public internet is prohibited. Remote control of inators is allowed only from inside the building.

5. Monitoring

IT Security monitors network traffic for threats. Traffic to websites about platypus care is flagged for review.

6. Acknowledgment

Connecting to the Inator Network constitutes acknowledgment of this policy.
